MID-WEST CO. IS DENIED JOB

Failure To Produce Plans Cited

TO RE-LET CONTRACT

Charge of Misrepresentation Is Made by Quinn

Special to The News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 10.—Following protests from delegations of the Port Arthur, Port Neches and Nederland Chamber of Commerce delegations here this morning, the contract for the new $150,000 county jail with the Mid-West company of Dallas with J. D. McCommon as president was cancelled by commissioners court.

Before a vote was taken on the proposition Judge B. B. Johnson said:

"McCommon is in town, perhaps you gentlemen would like to have him here to explain his side of the position."

McCommon Not Present

Charles Hughes, commissioner from Port Arthur replied "If they have wilfully neglected to let Jefferson county contractors have the plans for the new building, I do not think that is necessary."

McCommon was not in the courtroom but was seen in the court house after court had adjourned and the commissioners had left.

The resolution to rescind the contract was offered by Commissioner F. McDonald of precinct 1 and seconded by Charles Hughes of Port Arthur.

Vanhan and Turner did not vote.

The action of the court was expected in view of the protests made against the Mid-West company by local contractors. The contract with the Mid-West company particularly specified that Jefferson county contractors should have an opportunity to bid on the jail. Information was furnished Judge B. B. Johnson the past week that they had asked for the plans and had failed to receive them. The bids on the jail were due to have been opened Wednesday morning.

Sham Battle Tonight Biggest in County History

PIER BATTLE GROUND

Guard Units Split In Two Opposing Forces

Today will go down in history as the anniversary of the Battle of Port Arthur.

For at 6:30 p. m. the "fight" between opposing forces of men here will blaze away to a finish on the Pleasure Pier ground.

On into the night the city will shake with the booming of nine-inch trench mortars. Hundreds of rockets, star-shells and trench flares will soar skyward and burst into flames above the fighting soldiers on the field below.

"Somebody might have been shot if either the mayor or myself had gotten excited," Craig declared, explaining that a short circuit in his auto's wiring honked the horn every now and then, as though someone trying to change the starting wiring crossed with the horn wires.

150 to Participate

Across "No Man's Land," where heavily charged mines will go off with deafening crashes, hurling dirt and debris high into the air, wave after wave of infantry will sweep forward to attack the trenches of the "enemy." Machine guns will rattle ceaselessly to stem the attack, and as the "enemy" struggles through the barbed wire entanglements thrown up before the trenches, rifles will crack and spit fire back and forth.

Nearly 150 men will take part in the sham battle, but in the deep shadows of night, lit up occasionally by the flame from exploding mines and firing field pieces, the lurid light shed from above by rockets, star shells and flares, it will seem that

Burton Flays Probers as Scandal Mongers in G. O. P. Convention Keynote Address

INDIVIDUAL, NOT PARTY SMIRCHED

Ohioan Says Coolidge Not Congress, Leader

CONVENTION HALL CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 10—Declaring

that most citizens now "look to President Coolidge" rather than to congress for leadership, Representative Theodore L. Burton of Ohio today called for re-election of the president and a majority in the next congress, made up of republicans "tried and true" who will stand united.

It was the keynote speech of the G. O. P. for the convention and the coming campaign. It left upon the minds of the thousands—delegates and guests—who crowded the huge hall the unmistakable impress:

Nation's Destiny With Coolidge

Under the leadership of Calvin Coolidge, the republican party must stand or fall on conservative administration of government, unhampered by "blobs" and maintained by "particularists and an organization whose members unite in closed formation to do battle to every foot."

Interesting and informative ns was Burton's review of the republican administration's accomplishments—the real sensation of the address came when he adjusted his range on congress. House and senate action on the immigration, tax and bond bills, the scandal investigations and "plot" series of different sorts all came in for criticism or warning.

By implication, at least, Burton reproduced the Louie and Pepper world court proposal as being unsatisfactory to the president.

"Let me earnestly recommend participation in the world court now functioning at The Hague," he said. "This court is essentially an American idea and more than that a republican idea. It must be remembered also that the 54 nations are members of the league and most of them have adhered to the separate protocol for the court."

White House-Congress Differences

Among other points of difference between the White House and congress Burton mentioned the recent immigration law.

"White immigration and selection" of immigrants, he said, was needed because our "melting pot has cooled over." It is to be regretted that congress refused to request of the president for further negotiation with Japan."

With assurances that new or increased taxes are not probable, Burton added, however, that "the recent revenue law is not the last word." He criticized those who counsel that "excessive our taxes are desirable and result in larger revenue."

"The demagogue may say to the unwinking" he declared, "see how we are taxing the rich, and then in a soft voice aside to the great capitalist, 'how excellent an avenue of escape we are providing for you!'"

"We have recently witnessed the passage over the veto of the president of a so-called bonus or adjusted compensation bill," Burton said. He then outlined what the government had already done for the war sufferers and concluded:

"But the bonus act is now the law of the land. Conditions created by it must be met and its provisions must be willingly accepted."

Senate Probe Scored

It was on the subjects of the senate's investigations and "plot" action that the speaker unburdened himself without restraint.

"It is a most abominable wrong," he said, "to broadcast to the nation and to the world the mouthings of criminals and slanders, who would seek to scatter the slime of their own imitations and hatreds. It is time to call a halt upon indiscriminate scandal mongering which is largely designed to insult the intelligence and undermine the patriotism of the American people."

Though "vile" charges have brought to light the unworthy motives and grasping avarice" he declared, "there are not many among the thousands of house servants in Washington who are "reverent to their trust."

The republican party "stands firm as a rock" in its determination that "the guilty individual whether he be high or low, democrat or republican must suffer the severest punishment."

Turning to the "plot" situation in Congress, Burton deplored the lack of interest in primary contests. When "indifference reigns, unscrupulous forces poison our public life, a well organized minority is often more powerful than that mass of citizens whose patriotism is only aroused in times of grave emergency."

To these causes are traceable the formation of blocs and the relentless assertions of individual or sectional interests.

Rape Third Party

"Never more than now have there been such insatiable demands for sectional advantages, privileges of every nature, bonuses, pensions and other measures, as they are called."

He summed up the condition which led to his statement that the people looked rather to Coolidge than congress for leadership was uttered in these sharp words:

"I would that I could say as much for the courage of all public men as for their honesty. The public fancy is sometimes caught by those who are most vacuous and at the same time most radically wrong. What is most needed in legislative halls and elsewhere is courage to withstand the sordid charms which are created by gaudy summer or impudent agitation. Candidates for office often fail to realize how much the people respect courage and even honest."

Taking cognizance of "a tendency toward third party movements" he

ELKS AND BAND TO GO TO ORANGE

Locals To Participate In Flag Day Exercises

Taking the High school band with them, members of the Port Arthur lodge journey to Orange next Sunday to join with Elks there in a public Flag Day exercise, officials in the lodge here said today.

Players in the band and their director, Oren L. Lantz, will leave from the foot of Houston avenue Sunday at 8:30 a. m., aboard the Texas Company launch, Juliette, which has been tendered Elks here to carry the bandmen over to Orange. Col. R. H. Dunn, official in the Port Arthur lodge, said:

Continued from Page 1 enter a protest. Other Port Arthur members of the committee included Henry Lohmann and H. C. Crawford, with C. C. Hawkins from Port Neches and M. W. Oakley and E. W. Jackson from Nederland.

The convention then proceeded with the business of the day. Chairman Adams of the republican national committee submitted the committee's recommendations for temporary officers of the convention, the list being adopted.

La Fayette R. Gleason was elected secretary and C. M. Harger, assistant secretary.

Melton Given Ovation

Colonel E. R. Thayer, Indiana, was elected sergeant at arms and ex-Representative Campbell, Kansas and Senator Fess, Ohio, parliamentarians.

Proceeding to the adoption of temporary rules for the convention Mr. Burton called on one after another of the delegates who submitted the resolutions agreed upon for conduct of the convention. Reaching the resolution on the personnel of the resolutions committee the chairman called on Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon. Mention of his name was the signal for an enthusiastic demonstration lasting several minutes.

Melton came to the platform and handed his resolution to the clerk while the convention roared approval.

Addison G. Procter, St. Joseph Michigan, 56-year-old, who was present in the republican convention that nominated Lincoln, was introduced by the chairman.

Recalls 1850 Convention

"When we met in 1850 the one great problem before us was slavery," Procter said. "Slavery was the problem we had to meet. The country was aroused."

"The great rallying cry of our campaign was to save the undeveloped west."

"In nominating Lincoln we found success in terms of statesmanship and you will find success in honesty of statesmanship today."

NEGRO DRIVER HELD IN DEATH OF GIRL, 7

DALLAS, June 10.—Aline Greenwood, 7, was killed here today when she was struck by an automobile as she was crossing a street with two other children. A negro chauffeur is being held in connection with the accident. The other children were uninjured.

All three were on their way to visit Aline's grandmother.

GISELL GOES TO HOUSTON SHIP LINE

McVittie.

For the past six years Gisell was associated with the Sydney C. Collier and company steamship agency in Port Arthur, and prior to going with that firm he was with the D. W. Ryan Tugboat company here.

Crowe pieces chain of damaging testimony

SAYS LEOPOLD, LOEB, ARE SANE

CHICAGO. June 10.—Determined

that insanity shall not be as a get-away from the gallows, Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, today pieced together a chain of evidence designed to prove the sanity of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, college students and scions of wealthy families, who confessed to kidnapping and killing Robert Franks, 14-year-old school boy.

Crowe questioned many University of Chicago students, classmates of the prisoners. He said he intended to show that the youths are absolutely sane; that they knew the difference between right and wrong; fully realized the penalty for the crime, and committed it after long deliberation and careful planning.

Tomorrow Leopold and Loeb will appear for arraignment on charges of kidnapping and murder. They will plead not guilty.

Crowe will take personal charge of the state's case at the trial. It will be his first official court appearance in eight years.

CAPT. JOE BASQUE VISITS OLD FRIENDS

Taking the Gulf Refining company's tanker Winifred over the bar off Galveston too late Monday night for the port hour there took him off Captain Joe Basque, Houston pilot, formerly of Port Arthur, made the voyage to Port Arthur aboard the vessel arriving here early today.

Captain Basque was captain of the U. S. W. T. T. Tug boat company's tug boat here for sometime, and after the company withdrew its fleet from this port to Houston, he became a member of the Houston Pilots' association.

BOY FALLS FROM TRUCK, BREAKS NECK

H. L. Johnson Stricken At Beaumont Monday Night

Found unconscious on the floor in a public rest room at Beaumont, Lee Edgar Johnson, 30, of Sabine Pass died in an ambulance while being rushed to a Beaumont hospital about 8 o'clock Monday night. A verdict of death from natural causes was returned by Justice of the Peace Thomas Brown acting coroner.

Johnson was found by Police Captain George White, and an ambulance summoned to take him to the hospital. Surviving the young man are his father, Ben Johnson, formerly a constable in the South Park precinct; his widow and a small daughter; six brothers Andrew J. Vassier and Dennis of Beaumont; Neal and Patrick Johnson of Sabine Pass and George W. Johnson of Batson; and two sisters, Mrs. T. T. Jones of Beaumont; and Miss Katie Johnson of Sabine Pass.

Quinn replied that he had made a statement substantially the same.

E. C. Crawford, also of Port Arthur, declared that it was his opinion that if the people of Jefferson county were asked to vote on a joint that they would do so, since he had seen the jail himself as a grand jury and knew that anyone else who had an opportunity to inspect it would ask for a new one. Following the action of the court in rescinding the contract, he extended the thanks of the Port Arthur organization and declared that the court had, in his opinion, acted in accordance with the wishes of the people of the county.

The protest was not heard until 11:30 this morning. The commissioners court, acting as an equalization board, and although the delegations were present as soon as court opened, they had a long wait until several persons protesting taxes had been heard by the court.

With the situation as it now stands in the court, in the words of J. F. McDonald who offered the resolution, will "rub out" and start all over again.

The question whether Blalock's name should go on the ticket was precipitated when his application for a place on the ticket arrived without designation as to which of three races for the legislature he would make. Dowlen in his letter states since the application was filed within the specified time the technicians as to which place would not keep Blalock's name from the ticket.

WALL STREET JOURNAL

This statement which fully justified the most pessimistic advance estimates to the extent of the shrinkage which would be shown, failed to start even a ruffle.

You can't expect people to say you are "good-looking" as long as your appearance shows you are careless about keeping your skin free from blotches, pimples, rash, "breaking out" and eczema.

Hold Jap When Raiders Find Explosive Bombs

NEW YORK, June 10.—Dr. Osamu Tezuka, Japanese physician and explosive expert, was out on $100 head today after members of the日本 squad raided his apartment and found several formulas and diagrams for manufacture of high explosives. They also found a pistol and ammunition.

The raid followed an anonymous letter that many Japanese congregated at the apartment at night. Tezuka said the formulas were made about four years ago and had nothing to do with the recently enacted Japanese exclusion measure.

Will M. Cressy at the G. O. P. Convention

The convention soap thickens. Will Cressy is right up hand stirring it up. Here's the second yarn of his great political series for The Port Arthur News. Tomorrow's the opening day.

By WILL M. CRESSY

Illustrated by George Storm

The delegates are arriving. They come in shoals, like fish, looking for bait.

You can classify every one of them. Because each one is in a class by himself. City slickers, village leaders, small town bosses, robes, boobs, saints and sinners, patriots and grafters and just plain perpetual delegates.

But they are a polite, gallant lot. Yesterday in a crowded street car there was a poor, tired, shifty, dump little woman trying to connect with a strap way up above her head. She could not make it. And a long, lank southerner got up, reached for the strap with one hand, took her hand with his other hand, placed it in the strap, raised his big, black hat—and remained his seat.

One night John Royal gave them a free midnight show down at Keith's five-million-dollar theatre. And it cost him two hundred dollars to put the theatre together again after they got through with it.

Another night they had a dance and one big Texas chap was telling his first, last and only partner what a hit she was with him.

"Why, dog gone it, Sir, out of this whole herd of heifers you are the only one I could see. I never give another one even a look. Why, do you know, I never seen a fat lady sweat as little as you do."

Ah! every one of them is plugging for his own home state in some way or other.

The Vermont boys wear little banners announcing, "We'll Furnish 'Em If You'll Elect 'Em."

The boys from Utah state, "I Forget That I Have but One Wife's Vote to Give to My Country."

The Pittsburghers all wear "smoked glasses."

The Philadelphians all wear liberty bells in their buttonholes. They are all cracked. The bells I mean.

Many of St. Paul's delegation speak English as well as Swedish.

The Minneapolis Norwegians do not recognize them, however.

Every Florida delegate wears a grapefruit tied in his buttonhole, carries an atomizer throwing out Florida Water, and distributes price lists of St. Petersburg real estate.

The Atlanta delegation wears buttons stating "Cotton Is King." One of them told me that Atlanta had sold more cotton sheets and pillows cases in the past three years than any other city in the U. S. And he says Atlanta is also the healthiest city.

But I don't know. Charles Morse said it almost killed him. And so did Dave Lazar.

A colored delegate from Miss. has just discovered that B. V. D.'s are garments. He says that in Mississippi, B. V. D. means "Better Value Denim."

The following was issued through the New Orleans branch of the United States Hydrographic office:

BROUGHT FAME TO TWO OTHERS

Rosa Ponselle Now Soloist At Metropolitan

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 10.—The fame of Ross Ponselle, Diana Allen and Allyn King sprang from the fiddle of Eddie Wittstein. That's speaking literally.

Twenty years ago the only entertainment in the Yale dining hall came from the students themselves when they lifted their voices in college songs and gave impromptu concerts.

Then Eddie Wittstein walked into the dining room with his violin under his arm. He played one selection. His success was immediate. The manager of the restaurant hired him to play regularly.

Rosa Ponselle worked as cashier in the restaurant. She thought maybe she could sing when Eddie played. She spoke to the manager of the restaurant and he spoke to Eddie and Rosa sang.

Eddie was hired to play at the old Meublin's cafe. He started a cabaret, taking Ross along to sing and gave Diana Allen a job as a performer. Diana was attending high school and her mother ran a rooming house then.

Rosa and Diana were ambitious. The former went to New York, made a great success as a singer. She is now a soloist with the Metropolitan Opera and has an international reputation.

Diana enlisted with Ziegfeld's Folies, became one of Broadway's most famous beauties and was drafted by the movies.

Wittstein then started over with Allyn King as his star performer. Allyn was being tutored in dancing and music and appeared at church socials.

When Wittstein saw that Allyn was so accomplished he appealed to Ziegfeld to give her a place and she too, became a star. She is featured now in a popular Broadway musical.

But Eddie still plays with his Yale orchestra. He entertains at many of New England's society functions. His engagement list shows bookings at Newport, R. I.; Bar Harbor, Me.; Washington, D. C.; Columbus, O.; Asheville, N. C.; Palm Beach, Chicago, and New York.

Rosa and Diana and Allyn have gone out into the world to gain fame—but the fame of Eddie travels the world over, to every place a Yale man goes.

TURTLE FACTORY
MELBOURNE, June 10.—A new industry—a turtle factory—is being established on the Lacerpede Islands, off the northwest coast of West Australia. Green and Hawksbill turtles caught on the island will be treated on the spot at a special factory and the edible flesh will be shipped to London.

PARIS AFTER DINNER
LONDON, June 10.—Establishment of an after-dinner express at 100 miles an hour between London and Paris is being planned by Imperial Airways, Ltd. This will enable business men to dine after a day's work in London and get to Paris at bedtime. A service of big planes with comfortable sleeping berths, travelling at night between London and distant European capitals, also are planned by the company.

RESERVES CELL
NEW YORK, June 10.—A reservation was made by telegraph before the arrival at the Sing Sing death house of Frank Minnick, Bufalo slayer. Sheriff Tyler of Erie county wanted to be sure that Minnick would have a bed in the prison.

EVERYBODY HEALTHY
HELENA, Mont., June 10.—One hundred per cent health conditions in Helena and vicinity may cause St. Peter's Hospital here to close its doors. Cash contributions from outside sources are desirable, it has been announced.

KING PENS POETRY
BANGKOK, Siam, June 10.—The King of Siam is in love with his queen. He has built a villa for her at his country place and has called it Suan Raj Radi, or the Royal Garden of Love. While the king was attending a court maneuver he wrote daily love-poems to the queen.

TO SAVE FLOWERS
OLYMPIA, Wash., June 10.—Three thousand posters will be placed along the roads and highways of the northwest warning people not to strip the forests of their flowers. Tourists are endangering the future supply of forest blossoms, experts say.

A MAN SHOULD NEVER BE ASHAMED TO OWN HE HAS BEEN IN THE WRONG, WHICH IS BUT SAYING, IN OTHER WORDS, THAT HE IS WISER TODAY THAN HE WAS YESTERDAY.—POPE.

The Editorial Mind

However, come—

Odds and Ends and Come-on Our Morning Mail

Most people seem to have the notion that a baby is just a stomach with arms and legs attached.

As long as baby's stomach behaves and its food is assimilated, the average parent is satisfied. Food gets chief attention. It can't get too much attention.

There is more to a baby than stomach, arms, legs.

A baby has a liver, heart, lungs, brain, nerves, thyroid, blood vessels. All these must grow, but out into full blossom. They are just as important as the stomach sometimes more so.

Baby's heart lungs and brain should get fully as much attention as his digestive apparatus.

More than two and a half million babies will be born this year in the United States. Food is all-absorbing topic with most young mothers. Each year fewer mothers can nurse their young. Each year babies become more nervous-jumpy.

What's the reason? Doctors say the race is paying the price for something, they're not sure what. Fast living, too much nervous rush and bustle, these are at the roots of it all.

While watching baby's food, don't forget that his lungs are working, taking oxygen from the air and performing other duties. That he gets plenty of oxygen-fresh air. He should have a room to himself where he'll not be inhaling poisons from the lungs of his parents.

Watch his nerves. Give them a chance. Never startle him by yelling, "Boo!" It's cute, the way he jumps. But it's weakening to nerves that are just beginning to function.

Starting a baby quickens his pulse, throws a strain on his heart. He should always be addressed in a low tone. Keep him where it is as quiet as possible. Come into his line of vision slowly, never with startling suddenness.

Above all, never awaken him from sleep to show him off to visitors. Sleep is what he needs, even as much as food. Plenty of sleep, quiet, fresh air and sunshine (with the glare never directly in his eyes or reflected)-give baby these, and in future years there'll be worth more to him than a legacy of money.

The lifetime health of most people is determined in the cradle.

Nothing is lasting. Change is eternal and constant. The greatest mountain ever second becomes smaller as rain washes it away to the sea. And the sea, in turn, is slowly filling up.

Just when a man thinks he has achieved something, he finds the forces of disintegration attacking him. Phonograph makers built up a giant industry; sold two and a quarter million machines and 167 million records in 1920. They felt secure.

Then came the radio craze. It has put half of the phonograph makers out of business, fewer than 100 surviving. The two industries are joining hands. What will come along and crowd radio to the corner? Something that's inevitable.

Edison put the incandescent electric light on the market in 1879. Four years later, rates became uniform at 20 cents a kilowatt hour. The price today for small consumers averages eight cents—or less than half what it originally was.

The same is true of thousands of other articles. When people say cost of living has doubled, they refer to food, clothing, rent, and other basic items. In fact, in manufacturing has lowered more other prices than any of us realize. Can't compare our cost of living with grandpa's, for he didn't have a hundred of the things we used and consider indispensable.

Cork hats are on the market. Lighter than straw. Easily cleaned. Shapes themselves to the head.

Maybe you've noticed the increasing number of articles made of cork. Behold the cork industry ingeniously turning its talents to new fields through prohibition.

An industry never admits failure. It merely shifts its tactics in another direction. So should individuals.

Heaven help us, several colleagues have installed courses teaching book agents how to pitch their trade. Fortunately, they specialize at selling from behind the counter in stores.

And that job requires education. More so, steady, no speakers at a convention of book dealers. They find people are thinking more in increasingly buying volumes on serious subjects. And movies and radio have stimulated book sales instead of cutting them at many once expected.

We still live in the Age of Steel. And this country of ours last year made over three-fifths of the world's pig iron, from which steel is manufactured.

In one recent month Americans made almost as much pig iron as in the entire year 1881.

Pride in country begins with knowledge of its strength and power. In iron and steel, at least, we're more important than all the rest of the world combined.

A bottle holds just so many drinks. The ground contains just so much iron ore, copper, coal, oil, gas and soil fertility.

We're going on these natural resources fast. There exist in each gigantic quantities that will be exhausted. But humans have many thousands of years to live. Problem of making a living will become increasingly difficult.

TEXAS RANKS SECOND IN EXPORTS OF MISCELLANEOUS CARGOS TO WORLD.

Grand old Texas. New York easily outdistanced all the other states of the union in the value of exports for the first three months of 1924. New York lead every state but Texas by more than one hundred million dollars in the value of its exports during the first quarter of the present year.

This is shown by news statistics on foreign trade. This is the way they ran: New York first; Texas second and Pennsylvania third. They follow: New York, $183,846,364; Texas $147,255,543. Pennsylvania and Nevada ran third and last of the 52 states and regions shown in the bulletin issued by the Department of commerce.

There is more to a baby than stomach, arms, legs.

A baby has a liver, heart, lungs, brain, nerves, thyroid, blood vessels. All these must grow, but out into full blossom. They are just as important as the stomach sometimes more so.

Baby's heart lungs and brain should get fully as much attention as his digestive apparatus.

Texas claims to be the banner democratic state, but there are a million more democrats in New York that are willing to stand up and be counted than in the entire state of Texas.

Some day Texas, which produces 47 per cent of the America cotton crop will be the greatest cotton manufacturing state in the Union. Then when it comes to exports and their value, New York will be sent to second place. That is the way the stars tell it.

RETURN OF THE KING MAKER

Colonel George Harvey has returned to his first love. That is he has deserted diplomacy for editorial writing and reviewing. Henceforth it is to be the Editor of the Washington Post, and the Post is the property of Edward McLean. Publisher McLean was given a merry run for a while by the Teapot Dome investigators, but they discovered nothing worthy of mention and the McLean disappeared from the center of the state.

Colonel Harvey was sent as ambassador of the Court of St. James by President Harding. He remained in London three years and his tongue and his pen principally his tongue, made him an international figure. In days gone the Colonel was the Editor of Harper's Weekly and the North American Review. He was pugnacious, fearless, vitriolic, and aggressive, and when he wasn't in hot water he kept many prominent persons in the middle of the boiling cauldron.

He modestly claims, and his friends admit it, that the Colonel, made Grover Cleveland President of the United States; that his pen and his influence made Woodrow Wilson Governor and then President and lastly that the Colonel brought about the nomination of Warren G. Harding four years ago.

For this the colonel was amply rewarded. He was made an ambassador and sent him as far away from Washington as it was possible to send him. Now he is back in America, the editor of a great newspaper to pick another president for the American people. He is a native of Vermont. He was a democrat but Woodrow Wilson snubbed him. Then he became a republican and placed Warren G. Harding in the White House.

His first editorial blast indicated Calvin Coolidge and scorching Senator Lodge, and Secretary of State, Charles N. Hughes. He looks upon Lodge and Hughes as colossal plunderers for the way they handled the Japanese exclusion act, and gives great praise to the President, also a native of Vermont, for his tact, his sense of justice, and the admiral way in which he handled a delicate question.

All hail the president maker. He is once more in our midst. Now the common people can go on with their digging, the financier with their money changes, the merchants with their trading and bartering. Colonel George will look after the rest.

BAKER AND HIS MONEY

George F. Baker of Wall Street has a personal fortune having a value of three hundred million dollars. He is one of the four wealthiest men in the United States. John D. Rockefeller, Henry Ford and Andrew W. Mellon outrank him in wealth. This Wall Street king has given away twelve million dollars in recent years, and this includes a gift of five million dollars to Harvard College made just the other day. He is 82, he goes to his office every day, and he hopes to live forever. Now what is going to happen to his little balance, a pittance of two hundred and eighty-eight million dollars, after the grave digger has put him away.

Shrouds are pocketless. There are no banks or mints on the other side of the river. Gold is not accepted as a standard of value over there.

What Business Shall a Young Person Engage In?

There is no more important question to be decided than this: What shall I do with my life?

It is to be decided by the young people. In fact the great issues are all decided by youth; in old age we abide them, we make the best of them we can.

DETROIT WOMAN RECOVERS

Health Much Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan. — "Your little book left at my door was my best doctor. I read it, then I said to my husband, 'Please go and get me some Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' I want to take it." The woman, 51, last month took a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicines, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Wash. If you only know how much better I feel! Now when my friends say they are sick I tell them to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines. I give the little book and your medicines the best of thanks!" — Mrs. HAMERINE, 3765 25th Street, Detroit, Mich.

In newspapers and booklets we are constantly publishing letters from women, who explain how they were helped by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These letters should guide you. If you are troubled with pains and neuralgias, or any feminine disorder, bear in mind that the Vegetable Compound has helped other women and should help you. For sale by drug-gists everywhere.

50 GIRLS REACH CAMP SAFELY

Camp Organized For Week's Outing

Fifty bright-eyed, eager-faced Camp Fire girls, khaki-clad and ready for hiking with their broad-brimmed hats, khaki knickers and shirts, heavy stockings and equally serviceable shoes, stepped from their special coach at Call yesterday and surveyed with interest the first lap of their journey to their summer camp.

Leaving the train, the Port Arthur Camp Fire girls and the Orange girls, one hundred in number, began making preparations for automobile transportation to the camp site, eight miles from Call on Cow creek, an ideal location for a summer camp. The first day of camp was devoted to getting the tents in order, arranging for the regular camp schedule and preparing for a week's delightful stay in the lovely locality.

The Port Arthur girls, accompanied by their guardians and camp instructors, left Lions Park, yesterday morning at 9 o'clock and were taken to Beaumont in automobiles volunteered by general Port Arthur citizens. They left Beaumont on a special coach on the Gulf Coast, and were joined by the Orange girls in Orange yesterday morning.

Mrs. H. L. Rutan, president of the Camp Fire Guards' association, before her departure from Beaumont yesterday morning, announced that she wished to publicly thank all who volunteered their automobiles for taking the camp fire girls to Beaumont and all who made the summer camp possible by their generous donations to the transportation fund. Owing to the bad conditions of the roads between Beaumont and Cow Creek, the girls were forced to go via train as far as Call, where automobiles furnished transportation to the camp site.

The Camp Fire girls will return Monday, June 16, arriving in Beaumont at 7:35 p.m. Automobiles will also be needed on this occasion for bringing the girls back to Port Arthur, Mrs. Rutan said.

I don't know what you mean, old fellow, by telling me to watch my step. I don't believe that I stumble any oftener than most men, including yourself. Can't a married man be amused by a clever woman without committing an offense against his wife? Why, you old dufferhead, I wish you could see the last letter I wrote to Leslie. It's one of the most fervid love letters I have ever written. I even told her I was jealous of her former sweetheart, and that's going some!

But enough of this. I'll abuse you roundly if you, however, when I see you. You have no reason for bailing me out in this case, whatever I am doing. And that clothes are of secondary importance at this time, it is easy to see that they did not assemble their wardrobes hurriedly or without giving considerable thought to the bringing out of their best pieces.

Running a wire from a ceiling fixture to a floor or table lamp is likely to do two things. It may give an untidy appearance to the room that should be the most attractive in the home. It is usually in the way, and likely to result in breaking the lamp. Convenience outlets will eliminate both of these troubles.

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., constituted by the American Institute of Architects and founded by the Government of the United States government. Inclosed, self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Q.—What precautions can be taken to prevent heaving of foundations in winter?

A.—Heaving of foundation walls comes from expansion in the soil underlying the wall. In residence construction freezing is almost always the sole cause of this. If the foundations run below the frost level they will not heave. Be sure you distinguish between heaving and settlement. The latter comes from uneven soils under the foundation walls or improperly designed foundations or both.

Permanent Roof costs comparatively little, adds that classy appearance to your home and lasts indefinitely.

Let's talk it over before you spend any money on inferior roofing.

Actor, With Win Over Ryan, to Meet Jones Here On 16th

New York Wrestler Loses On Straight Falls To City Ace

By BILL ARCHER

In 76 minutes of wrestling time, George Vassel Actor, "The Pride of Port Arthur," decisively defeated Bill Ryan, husky New York City chap of Matador, in Elks theater arena here last night before a slim, but appreciative crew of auditors.

Actor took the first fall in 53 minutes, and collected the second in exactly 23, using a spread eagle on both occasions to down his adversary.

It was announced at the ringside between falls that Will Fort, match-maker, had concluded arrangements with Houston men, and that Paul Jones, the phenomenal grappler who has already met the city's pride twice, will appear in the local arena on June 16 for a finish-to-the-limit match with George Actor.

"Come early and bring your lunches," Fort said last night, recalling the first encounter of these two gents in Houston when they went four hours and a half to a "finish," for this is going to be a corker."

Ryan Speed Merchant

Ryan proved a husky, speed merchant in his initial appearance here last night. Against a heavier opponent he would probably show considerably more ability in his own favor, but Actor, appearing somewhat diminutive when he stood up against the Gotham city wrestler, was too alert and swift for Bill.

It was undoubtedly Actor's speed that settled last night's contest, and the return of an eyegift that he has been needing for months was plainly his best asset. Ryan couldn't get away from George. Ryan twisted, kicked, squirmed out of holds and clamped some stiff ones on the local boy, but his antics were unavailing.

Actor Wasn't Down

A few fans howled when the initial fall was declared, claiming that Referee Miller had failed to declare a fall when Actor lay sprawled on his back with Ryan trying several holds to pin his shoulders. Actor, however, was not down, although he was in grave danger of being pinned solidly, with both shoulders clinched to the mat.

Twisting from side to side, the local boy managed to raise first one, then the other shoulder an inch or so from the floor, preventing the fall, and eventually squirming free from the grip of Ryan.

Bring Fawcett Back

The match brought back to the local stage the Greek artist who has been so popular among wrestling fans here during the past winter season, and will probably be the feature attraction in several big bills being planned for the next six weeks by Prodigy Fort, his match here on the 16th being considered one of the toughest mills that will probably be arranged for a city setting.

In the prelims last night, Young Zbysko and Young Lewis went 15 minutes in an exhibition turn while Young Nick 120, defeated Kid Vaughn in six minutes with a crotch hold. Gale Banks officiated.

PICTURES PROVE GOOD ARBITERS
NEW YORK, June 10.—Motion pictures are final arbiters of finishes in intercollegiate track and field championships, tested for the first time officially in the title meet at Cambridge probably will be a fixture in the conduct of annual games, officials of the I. C. A. A. A. said today.
The value of the new scheme to correct possible mistakes of judges at the finish mark, was demonstrated, officials pointed out when the now motion pictures of the 100-yard dash trials on Friday showed the third and last qualifying place in a heat had been given erroneously to Chase of Harvard, instead of Barber of California. As a result the judges' verdict was overruled.
HITS OPPORTUNE
BOSTON, June 10.—Opportunity hitting coupled with errors by James Conney and Bottomley on thrown balls in the fourth inning, gave Boston a 4 to 2 victory over St. Louis. John Conney, brother of the St. Louis player, pitched a good game.

SYRACUSE SIGNS FOR GAME ON COAST
SYRACUSE, June 10.—Syracuse University's football team will journey to Los Angeles to meet the eleven of the University of Southern California, December 6, according to announcement by the Orange athletic office.
The invitation for the game came from Elmer Henderson, director of athletics at the University of Southern California. The Orange team will leave for the Pacific coast immediately after the game with Columbia at New York on Thanksgiving day.
TEX CONSIDERING FIRPO-WILLS BOUT
NEW YORK, June 10.—Tex Rickard said today he would take a couple of days to decide whether to put on a Firpo-Wills bout as originally intended.
The promoter was greatly disappointed at Wills' showing in his bout with Madden. He said the match would not draw as large a gate as hoped and that he doubted if Firpo would lower his demands.
Wills gained the decision in 12 rounds over Bartley Madden.
PLANNING PARC SMOKER ON 16TH
Joe Desmond To Appear In Next Event
The announcement of another "cooking good" smoker for members of the Port Arthur Athletic club has been made by Manager Harry L. Coughlin, the date being given out as June 11.
"On the evening of that date," Coughlin said today, "the club will hold its first semi-monthly athletic smoker in its effort to raise the club membership to the 1,000 margin."
Each member of the organization is urged to bring one visitor.
Several club members will participate in the smoker, including some clever athletic talent, Joe Desmond and Young Darby will probably be the feature attraction.
Efforts are being made to have some special music for the occasion, and the management is arranging to place electric fans about the club rooms to make the members comfortable while they are enjoying the program.
EXPORTERS LOSE TO FORT WORTH, 4-2
FORT WORTH, June 10.—Port Arthur, making its first appearance in the Texaco Exporter lost in the Cain 4 to 2, but he held out much promise as a thrower of the festive apple. The former Sox right-hander possesses plenty of skill in the way of a baffle ball, and he is a good pitcher.
Leonard, however, does not look at it that way. He has the theatrical bug and has it bad, but he has some sensible arguments to say. His desire to get out of the boxing business is not a fad of the moment or a silly hobby.
While it is admitted that the boxer hasn't a profession as permanent as a young man with a skilled technical trade, it seems that Leonard has several years ahead of him; and even a few years at such a handsome salary would put the ordinary tradesman at ease for life.
Leonard, however, does not look at it that way. He has the theatrical bug and has it bad, but he has some sensible arguments to say. His desire to get out of the boxing business is not a fad of the moment or a silly hobby.
Old Grandaddy John Black plans to make another bid for the open golf championship this summer and it will be interesting to note how he fares. Old John, with his evil-smelling pipe and antiquated golf attire, was a picturesque figure at Skokie two years ago when he came within one breathless stroke of tying Gene Sarazen for the title.
Old John was an unknown before the battle started, an elderly club maker who had come up from the coast mainly to see the sights. Nobody gave him a tumble and when reports came drifting back to the bulletin board that the unknown was burning up the fairways, stepping out ahead of Hagen, Hutchinson, Kirkwood, Duncan and the rest, there was a general stampede for the score of action.
Black should have won that title, too. Sarazen had finished with 288, and Black, on his final round, had gone out in 33. This left him with a 38 to tie and two holes to go to look at if he had the prime in his hand. Then, at the seventeenth he drove out of bounds, deep into the woods, and was out of play.
There was much glory, however, in losing by a scant stroke and it was all the sweeter because it was unexpected for an underhanded. The gods had waited a long time but when they smiled they smiled generously.
Black was well on his way to additional glories than a result of his fine showing in the open when misfortune overtook him and he was seriously injured in an auto wreck. He never fully recovered from the nervous shock and instead of playing a leading role in last year's open at Inwood, he was an outsider all the way.
Incidentally, the old man wore knickerbockers in that tournament for the first time. Always in the past he had worn long johns.
"I don't think I'll ever wear those short pants again," Black grumbled after the Inwood meet. "They run a fellow's game." And he wasn't jesting. Black will be at Detroit next month competing for the title again and we have an idea he'll be wearing his long johns again.
Collins will be Detroit's next competitor for the title again and we have an idea he'll be wearing his long johns again.

Sweeney he went with his new kite for just then a strong gust of wind came along and carried the kite up into the air like a bird.

"All right," said Nick. "Here's a nice green one."

"Please tie a string on it, will you?" asked Chippy.

"Sure," said Nick.

So he got a nice long string and tied it on.

"I hope I won't see that horrid old crow," said Chippy. "He's always swooping around looking as though he'd like to eat us."

"Why, I don't think Master Crow would hurt you," said Nancy. "He's pretty mischievous, but not really mean."

"And he's too full of Farmer Jones—or he wants to eat chipmunks," laughed Master Baga, the fairy storekeeper.

"Well, I don't care," said Chippy. "Ma always told me to be careful of Master Crow and Master Hawk and Master Crow and I think she ought to know."

"You just run right along and have a good time," said the fairy man. "If we're always going to be afraid of something or other all the time it spoils everything we do."

"That's so," agreed Chippy. "It does seem as though I was always worrying. Hooray, everybody! Watch my kite go up."

So away he went with his new kite, which was as big as he was, and when he got out to the meadow where there weren't any trees, he climbed up on top of a big stone and let out the string.

"Hooray! Whoopie!" he shouted,

"Don't worry, I'll get him for you," croaked a horse voice, and Master Crow flew up from the fence beside the cornfield, straight for the tiny figure. Then he flew right under him and Chippy let go and landed on his back.

It was exactly like an act in the movies.

Then Master Crow flew down to the ground.

"Oh, thank you, thank you," cried Mrs. Chipmunk. "I always thought Master Crow was little chipmunks, sit, I beg your pardon."

"Oh, that's all right," croaked Master Crow. "Who'd want chipmunks when corn's just sprouting?"

FROSTI WINS KING SNOW'S DAUGHTER

Most Norse stories said giants were bad, but now and then we find a story which speaks a good word for the big fellows.

Frosti was a giant who lived in the far north. He was bright and shining—fair to look upon. One day he made a trip to the land of the Finns.

That day was the greatest of Frosti's life, for in Finland he met a beautiful woman called Shining Snow. Shining Snow was the daughter of a stuffy old giant King "now". She fell in love with the handsome Frosti, and he went to ask her father for her hand.

King Snow answered: "No, never shall you marry my daughter! Get away from here!"

Frosti did not go far. He sent this message to his love:

"Frosti has lost his heart to thee, and wishes to take thee to the north."

Shining Snow replied:

"Tell him I love him, too. I shall wait for him at the seashore."

They met at the seashore, and started to flee from the country. King Snow gave chase. His soldiers fired showers after shower of arrows at the couple, but the arrows were like blunt white pencils. They did no harm.

Frosti and Shining Snow escaped, and began a happy married life in the bright northern land.

This picture shows a scene on a mountain near which many Norsemen live. The large rocks must have suggested giants to the Norse story-tellers.

BETTY TAKES A TRIP

"All ready," called out Betty, as she came running down the steps of her cousin's house and climbed into the automobile in which her friend Margie and Margie's father were waiting to take her to the country. Betty was wearing a soft green coat and hat and she carried her new brown traveling bag.

They sped the automobile down the country road, and it wasn't long before they stopped in front of a big white farmhouse. Soon Margie was taking Betty around to show her the little brown colt, the new litter of her fat little pigs, and her own bantam rooster.

After supper, when Betty drank three glasses of milk, Margie's mother said, "Early to bed, girls. Tomorrow afternoon I'm having a party here for the bride and you'll have to help me a lot."

BIG GUNS

hundreds of men are engaged in the combat. Over a pontoon bridge thrown across a corner of Lake Sabine, companies of soldiers will tramp, and as the last men goes ashore, mines planted under the bridge will blow it to smithereens.

Nothing like the sham battle for the reality of detail in depicting realism and thrill of actual warfare was ever presented in Jefferson county before, officers in the guard companying here said today.

Back of the fighting lines, a Red Cross field hospital, with nurses, doctors and ambulances will set up to take care of casualties which will more than likely result from powder burns or paper wadding from blank cartridges fired in machine guns, rifles and trench mortars of officers said. Injuries more or less serious, resulting from flying debris, burns and paper wadding, always occur at sham battles, according to the officers.

Safe Place For Spectators

Precautions to provide a safe place for the thousands of spectators expected to gather at the end of the Pleasure Pier to witness the sham battle have been taken, and ample room for all who come to see the working out of the charges, retreats, explosions and various other features of the battle has been provided, it was announced today. Due to the fact that considerable territory will be needed by the fighters for maneuvering, it will be impossible to permit automobiles across the pier bridge tonight, guard officers said.

Boy Scouts of Troop 16, in charge of E. R. Clements, Scoutmaster, will be stationed at the pier bridge to take up tickets, direct the throngs of spectators and assist in every way possible to insure comfort and safety for all who plan to go to the battle ground for the sham battle tonight. Half of the proceeds from the ticket sales for the sham battle will be turned over to the Boy Scouts by members of Company D, 11th Engineers, and the headquarters and service company, stationed in Port Arthur, who will stage the sham battle tonight.

Grand Duke Nicholas Has Eye on Russian Throne

WAITS CALL BY COUNTRY

Exiled, He Lives Quietly in French Village

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

SANTENY-SERVON, France, June 10.—Back in the early days of the World War, Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch commanded the czar's great armies.

He owned palaces and estates all over Russia. Before he took the field with his troops, he lived the life of a royal prince and wealthy nobleman.

But today he is a simple country gentleman in the little Chateau of Choiny, on the outskirts of this humble hamlet where for centuries time has stood still.

Mis command, once numbering millions, is reduced now to 20 faithful Cossacks. His household does not exceed 8 or 10 persons. And his table is the plainest.

Popular in Village

It sounds like a tragic tale—and in part it is. But the man who, due to the machinations of the last of the czars, was deprived of his title of generalissimo of the Russian armies and sent into practical exile in the Caucasus; the man who practically was a prisoner of the Bolsheviks before he managed to escape to Italy, is abiding his hour.

Although 65, he still is vigorous, straight as the Russian pine, well over six feet tall, and but a little grayed than in his campaigns of 1812-14.

He and his friends are confident that soon the call for service will come. Meanwhile, he lives in an isolation one would think impossible in a place only an hour by train from Paris.

Two or three trains a day stop at the station called Santeny-Servon. The village itself is a mile and a half away. Here you find some 200 souls, most of whom are employed as farm hands in the surrounding wheat country of Brie.

Although this country voted heavily for the parties of the Left Wing in the recent elections, the grand duke is popular with the peasants.

They call Nicholas' rented estate the Chateau of Choiny—but it isn't a castle. It is more like a French country residence—a low, rambling, two-story white structure, with geranium beds around it and flowered in horse-chestnut, locust and other trees flowering at this time of the year.

Cossack Guard Him

The grounds are enclosed by tall fences. The big barred iron gates are kept locked. France has many communists and Bolsheviks who might harm the greatest of the living Romanoffs.

That is why at night the 20 Cossacks are on guard. That is why a half dozen police dogs are let loose on the grounds. That is why by day the French government has sent down there to do duty as the porters' lodge a special agent of the French Surete Generale.

In spite of the fact that many of the surviving Romanoffs not long ago chose Grand Duke Cyril—now living at Nice—as protector of the rights to the old throne, thousands of loyal Russians the world over look upon Nicholas as the man who ultimately will deliver Russia from the Soviets.

Nicholas wanders about his grounds in the ordinary clothes worn by Frenchmen of the leisure class. He never goes to Paris.

Considerable part of his time is spent in writing a history of the first part of the great war. Long years ago he wrote a history of Russia under one of the great czars. So by writing now he evidently is returning to one of his early loves.

Most of his guests are Russians who escaped the Soviet Czar and who have information to place at his disposal.

It is significant that most of the able Russians come to Santeny to report to him, instead of going to Nice to report to Cyril.

CROCODILE ATTACKS

COLOMBO, Ceylon, June 10.—A man-eating crocodile and a fisherman from the village of Rekawa fought a thrilling 15-minute battle in a lake near here recently. The fisherman finally escaped from the crocodile by driving a boat into the reptile's throat. The man was severely injured, however.

FIGHT WAR OVER

PERTH, Australia, June 10.—Rifle and knife filled the air when an argument over the war between the crews of the Australian steamer Barunga and the German steamer Hanover resulted in a fierce fight recently. Two Australians and one German were sent to the hospital here severely injured.

HEAR FLY WALK

WEMBLEY, England, June 10.—A microphone by which a fly may be heard walking is one of the scientific wonders that has attracted much attention at the British Empire exhibition here.

HOLD OFFICE 70 YEARS

DUKSBURY, Vt., June 10.—Mrs. Merle H. Palmer, a Justice of the peace, was elected city clerk here exactly 70 years after her great-grandfather Calvin Hunter was elected to the same office. The post has been held continuously by members of the Hunter family for 70 years.

James Kirkwood comes to picture lovers of this city again today when at the Peacock theater, he appears as the featured player in the new Columbia Pictures corporation, "Discontented Husbands."

One of the best loved characters on the screen, Mr. Kirkwood will be especially welcome in this production for it is said, by those who have seen it in big metropolitan showings, to be one of the strongest that has come from the film studios this season.

The theme is one that will interest men and women everywhere. Marriage and its problems, men and women who think they have outgrown their mates and that they are "misunderstood"—these, after all, are the big dramas of life.

James Kirkwood is seen as a husband who has grown rich and has, at the same time, been bitten by the "social bee"—which interests his wife at all. In fact, she prefers to stay at home and do her housework, although her husband wishes nothing better than to provide her with luxuries and many servants.

This is a situation in which, in real life, things begin to happen. And happens they do too in "Discontented Husbands," one on top of the other. The culmination is reached when the husband's eyes are opened by his own daughter, who tries to practice the freedom of thought and action her own father has taught her.

"PAINTED PEOPLE"

"Painted People," which boasts Colleen Moore as its featured player, is a photoplay of unusual contrasts, and contains a wide range of settings.

The story, which is based on the Gellier's Weekly serial, "The Swamp Angel," by Richard Connell, opens in the poor district of Clinton City, with the action being supplied by the poverty-stricken residents of the town.

Next we are transported into the wealthy portion of Clinton City, with its mansions forming the background for fashionably dressed men and women.

When the spectator is given a taste of stage life, with many views "behind the scenes" and "out front" to delight the eye.

"Painted People," which is coming to the Peoples theater for an engagement of four days has been pronounced one of the most delightful comedy dramas that ever traced the silver sheet.

Saturday at 8 o'clock in the morning Moerbe went into his garden and found a modest cucumber vine.

Not even baby cucumber could be found.

Thinking probably in a couple of weeks he would have some young cucumbers for his table, Moerbe went about his business.

Monday morning, 48 hours later, Moerbe again strolled into the garden.

Vinegar and pickles!

The gardener could not believe his eyes. Not a bloom nor an unassuming infant cucumber only fit for a cherub, but a monster giant cucumber 24 inches long and weighing 20 ounces was on the vine.

Moerbe says he now believes the tale of Jack and the Beanstalk was no myth since his cucumber became so ambitious. The mighty vegetable, plucked in the bloom of babyhood, was brought to The News office as proof of its rapid growth.

Today there is no body with general jurisdiction in religious matters among the Jewish people, and if the Sanhedrin is reconstituted to become such a body it can only be done by common consent—the various Jewish communities sending to Jerusalem those scholars learned in the law whose judgments would command universal assent.

This re-establishment of the Sanhedrin—if it comes about—will be one of the most dramatic religious events in the long and colorful history of the Jewish religion.

If this new Sanhedrin resembles the old and the intention is that it shall—it will be composed of seventy-one scholars who are still in the prime of life "not too extremely old as such men are commonly of great severity." Another curious provision is that they shall be without physical maim or blemish, lest their physical discomfort result in perverseness or severity of judgment.

A third attempt to make sure that their learning is sweetened with wisdom is the clause stipulating that they must be "fathers of children that they might be acquainted with tenderness and compassion."

Needless to say, these seventy-one men must be learned in the Jewish law, in addition to "that they must know several languages. And finally they must have skill in physics, arithmetic, astronomy, and the various arts."

According to Dr. Teinernowitz, one of the first things which the Sanhedrin must study is Jewish family law while growing in a safely mixed up condition. Jewish women, in particular, complain of some of its provisions. Among the against anomalies which he cites is one that is emphatically in favor of the woman.

Jewish law asserts that no Jewish man may be forced into marriage against his will, any lack of consent on her part would void the marriage. On the other hand, the Jewish bridegroom enjoys no such protection. He may be carried under the canopy regardless of his consent if he goes through the ceremony, but if he goes through the ceremony, he is married and that's an end of it.

In the United States, the Jewish law of marriage and divorce is as follows:

The only way to iron in comfort is to iron electrically.

Wardrobe ..... $6.75

American Beauty ..... $7.50

Boy Point ..... $6.75

Blue Ribbon ..... $5.00

All warranted perfect and guaranteed.

MODEL HOME BIDS RECEIVED

Construction May Begin This Week

Bids for the furnishing of the Model Home are now being received and it is hoped these will be in and determined by Thursday when C. R. Schoppe, Houston and Dallas architect, arrives to personally supervise the building plans, Mrs. M. L. Gill, director of the movement said today.

Those in charge of the building of the Model Home are receiving inquiries from nationally known concerns and wholesale houses from afar off offering to be of assistance in the making of the home a success.

"We are anxious to begin the actual work on the home this week if possible. Of course with so many operating and offering bids it takes some little time to get the master arranged," Mrs. Gill said.

"For more than two years I had suffered torment with kidney trouble," said Mr. Frank J. Feyen, 1513 Prudent Street, Houston, Texas, in talking with a Merritone man the other day.

"I was nervous, restless, couldn't sleep at nights and had such severe pains in my back that I could hardly stand it—I was forced to be up several times every night, and become thoroughly discouraged about my condition."

"I tried many different kinds of medicines but every one of them failed to do me any good. I had often read about Merritone in the newspapers and a short while ago bought a bottle and began taking it."

"In just a week from that day I was entirely free of pain and the improvement in my condition was wonderful. I could sleep all night without awakening. My nervousness entirely disappeared and I gained right along in weight and strength. I have finished taking four bottles now and thanks to Merritone I am in better health than I have been in for years."

Merritone is a vegetable compound that acts gentle but persistently upon the liver and stomach, corrects constipation and irregularities in the action of kidneys and bladder, with consequent building up of the entire system through adding rich, red, healthy blood.

Merritone is for sale in Port Arthur at The Houston Avenue Drug Store, American Pharmacy and The Owl Drug Store.—Adv.
